Jack Knight Opens a New R&D Office

Due to the increased demand for Research and Design Jack Knight Developments will be opening a new Design Office in the state of the art £10m Automotive Technium in October 2006. These offices are equipped with the very latest technology, CAD software and communication links allowing transfer of large complex designs to any location throughout the world.

The Technium will host a number of specialist companies from within the automotive sector, enabling quick and easy access to many disciplines, including electronic, chassis and power train designers all under one roof, providing a true 'One Stop Shop' for the client. This new facility will support our clients across the performance engineering sector to meet the rapidly changing needs of the sector. This exciting development will become a world centre for research and development projects, providing contract research as well as technical consultancy and troubleshooting.

Jack Knight Developments have been designing and manufacturing automotive components for over 50 years. With this additional design capability plans are now in place to increase the design of new products and concentrate on new exciting projects for major OEM's.

Benefits
